The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

News: A Barrier to Crime

In mid-August an emotional letter was distributed to the media by a local businessman who had suffered several robberies. The latest robbery was on August 7, Ray A. Hollings, owner of the 7-Eleven Foodstore at 3834 Massachusetts ave., shot and killed the would-be robber.

His anger and frustration is symptomatic of that felt by area people who join a growing number of victims of robberies, burglaries, malicious mischief and other acts of crime or violence.

Wrote Hollings to this newspaper, the metropolitan dailies, and four local television stations.

"Subject: An indictment of . . . news media who have placed my life, and that of my family, in jeopardy due to irresponsible reporting practices.

"I am an honest citizen who has to work two jobs to support my wife and five children. I, like thousands of other men over 40, and forced by age discrimination into these small convenience stores, are fighting for our very survival against a rapidly increasing army of criminals.

"You sadistic ghouls, in the name of reporting the news, in publishing my name and that of my employees, have set us up for assassination.

"My family has received numerous anonymous death threats by phone. My wife is going through hell.

"This letter is to inform you that if any harm comes to me or my family that you will be held responsible by the survivors for publishing or broadcasting information that invaded our right to privacy.

Hollings said he was sending copies of letters to lawmakers demanding "responsible legislation to make news media responsible for the protection of honest citizens against the criminal element which is taking over the cities of this county."

Copies were sent to the sheriff, SD Police chief, Board of Supervisors, two state senators, an assemblyman, the governor, and to the U.S. Supreme Court, he said.

We have tried unsuccessfully to contact Mr. Hollings in the four weeks since his letter was sent. We needed to tell him that newsmen do far more for protecting honest citizens than he believes. Newsmen do not burgle and rob. They report these acts. Without such information no citizen would be aware how crime has grown. Without this knowledge people could not demand of their lawmakers to toughen the regulations so that innocent citizens could enjoy as many rights as criminals; that police would not be required to go through so much ridiculous maneuvering to make an arrest; that district attorneys would not refuse to issue complaints when the police evidence appears to be supported by fact, and that courts would turn their attention to the injury done to victims of arrested criminals instead of so much concern about crowded jails.

The loss to criminals, if converted into construction, would house all the guilty burglars and robbers in all the courts.

No indeed, the press hasn't made the crime. But it's there just the same. Look!

The 1975 crime statistics (an inch-thick book) by the Federal Bureau of Investigation were released about the time the 7-Eleven crime was being committed.

A U.S. Press Assn. comment about the crime report was ". . . (the statistics) are enough to cause every American to hang his head in shame and to seriously question what is going on in the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington.

The statistics show that the rate of crime increased 9 per cent more in 1974, and 33 per cent more than in 1970. In 1975 there were 21 serious crimes committed every minute of the day, 24 hours a day. Violent crime, such as murder, forcible rape, armed robbery or assault to kill occurred every 31 seconds. There was a burglary every 10 seconds, a larceny-theft every 5 seconds and a motor vehicle theft every 32 seconds.

In 1960, newspapers reported people were deploring the "high rate of crime" and the crime rate stood at 1,887.2 for every 100,000 people. Last year there were 5,281.7 crimes for every 100,000 people—an increase of 279 per cent.

U.S. News takes a look at what's happened to our nation since 1960. "1975 statistics show that the greatest proportion of crimes were committed by youths; 26 per cent by persons under 18 years of age, 42 per cent by persons under 21.

"In 1960 these kids were under 3 and 6 years of age.

"What happened to them in those 15 years? What religious or moral training did they have? What kind of school did they have? Did their public education include the slightest suggestion of spiritual or moral content? Did they become what they are today because, as many parents charge, of immoral and degrading material in school text books? Did the rejection of prayer in school make them better people?"

Not mentioned in the commentary, but certainly an important part of the problem, was the then growing presentation of crime and violence shows on television.

However, the 297 pages of fine print in the Crime Report don't give the answers to these questions. Every other aspect is minutely examined; age, sex, race, geography, etc.—but absolutely no information is given to tell us what they were taught to believe in home, church, or school.

Millions upon millions of dollars are appropriated by Congress each year for the Department of Justice to provide Constitutional guarantees that persons shall be secure in their lives and property.

A substantial amount of those funds in the past year has been used by the U.S. Department of Justice. And most of the headlines highlighted attempts by the Attorney General to indict members of the FBI.

For what? They allege the FBI is "violating the civil rights" of would-be bombers and self-styled Marxist Revolutionaries.

Among authorities, only your local police seem to be concerned with stemming the growing crime scene.

And they are being hampered more and more by bleeding-heart-type of legislation and spineless court decisions.

Without the news media to inform the public of deterioration of resistance to crime at the top, even local police couldn't help. Without media's continual warnings, police budgets for personnel might be cut severely—possibly in half.

Then watch the number of holdups and other crimes skyrocket.

Half to Support Half?

"If these (government) programs continue growing for the next two decades at the same pace they have in the last two, we will spend more than half of our gross national product for domestic social programs alone by the year 2000. In other words, when the century turns, half the American people will be working to support the other half."

Rummage Sale Items Need On L.G. Chamber Agenda

Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce directors Thursday focused attention on the week-end rummage sale designed to lift the CoC Old Time Days project out of the financial doldrums.

On a different subject Olin Thompson gave a report of a meeting of United Business Commission of which he is an official in which the growing number of bad check passers was noted. Local firms are being warned to get proper identification and make certain the signature matches the name on imprinted checks.

State Senator Jack Schrade responding to a communication from the CoC regarding removing the State Employment representative from the L.G. Information Center said in a letter, he would investigate the problem.

Meanwhile, the CoC office is being used as a job bank for local jobs and immediately got three listings and job applicants were referred to them. It was reported that 59 applications for work had been accepted by the State employment representative at the Information Center and that no person had been placed during the several weeks of operation.

Dr. Griffith Clark presided at Thursday's meeting in the absence of Robert Guest.

S.V. ParaMed Future Up for Study

Whether paramedics will become part of the services provided by the Spring Valley Fire Protection District will be made clearer Thursday, October 7, when the fire department's board of directors discuss the issue publicly with County officials.

The meeting begins at 7:30 at the fire station at 905 Gillespie dr., Spring Valley.

Dr. Sylvia Micik, County chief of the Division of Emergency Medical Services has been invited to clarify what the fire district's chances are for obtaining a paramedic ambulance through a federal grant which expires June 30, 1977.

Fire officials alleged conflicting reports on the District's chances for the vehicle, while a spokesman for the Emergency Medical Committee denied any discrepancies.

Later, Assistant Chief Stan Mourning confessed that he erred in thinking the County had already ruled out a paramedic ambulance for Spring Valley.

Ray Stelzner, chief of administration and planning for the County Emergency Medical Care Committee, confirmed that federal funds this fiscal year could provide three ambulances which will be awarded on a priority basis to first-in applicants who can confirm that they can man a paramedic program.

BETTER LOOKING—Lions Club members in Lemon Grove Spring Valley and other parts of the Southwest will circulate among citizens Friday and Saturday asking for contributions to aid their White Cane project—a project which in turn, aids those with impaired vision.

Lions clubs throughout the nation support programs for providing guide dogs, Braille printing, talking books and prevention of blindness.

The Lemon Grove club sponsors vision screening programs for grades K and 1. Of 754 examined last year, 64 needed further attention. The local club also supports the Lions Sight Preservation Clinic in San Diego where 5,000 needy have received professional care.

In the photo are Les Cleer, Lemon Grove chairman of the White Cane Days project; Mary Jo Byrne, Miss Lemon Grove who is helping with project, and Wally Knutson, Lions Club president.

FLOOD CONTROL—A newly installed drainage channel which ends near the property line of a resident in Casa de Oro has created concern over possible flooding of the property. Alfred G. Terry, civil engineer with the County Flood Control, left, says flooding isn't likely. The William Daceys, who live at the property at 4065 Citradora, contend that the ecological change not only raises the flood spectre but damages the value of their property. Several thousand feet of such channels have been installed recently.

Drainage Channels Put Hex on Citradora Floods; Irk Residents

By Max Goodwin

A big thing with county government in the Spring Valley area today is flood control.

Not the little puddle types, but the granddaddy of them all that may inundate the countryside.

While there have been no honest-to-goodness floods in Spring Valley as far back as records go, there have been some drainage problems.

But in their hearts, like Carter's heart-made adultery, county people have become convinced that there's going to be a 100-year flood, say, in 100 years.

As a result they have ramrodded through a flood map and later a treacherous little thing that is described as a flood plain overlay. These devices are said to deny people the right to develop their property—or even improve it. If you live in the flood plain overlay area, don't plan to add a carport to the house. They won't let you. It may be flooded away in a hundred years or so.

Values Drop

As a result, property values in the overlay area have become depressed dramatically. Who wants to buy a piece of property which can't be improved? Those properties in a flood plain must have insurance cost problems. If county officials say it's going to be flooded, the risk for the insurance firm is greater.

But the county assessor doesn't believe the flood people. He doesn't see the values depressed. The assessed valuation has not been reduced in keeping with the injury caused by the flood people and their overlay game.

Two Cars Stolen In Lemon Grove

Rowan W. Stowe, of 2425 Massachusetts Lemon Grove, who leaves his car at 7600 High street to share a ride to work, complained Thursday that his car had been taken when he came back.

The car, a Datsun, was taken between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

On the same day, a '75 Ford 12-passenger station wagon belonging to Charles and Sheron Cunningham, 547 Paraiso st., Spring Valley, left parked and locked in the couple's driveway, was taken between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. The loss was $6,500.

If all of this is true, county government should be charged with criminal negligence, or something.

But floods are only symptomatic. It all comes from drainage. With the flood boundaries fairly well established, flood experts are now looking at the drainage problem, a place that should have been studied ahead of the flood plan.

Little Damage

There have been rainwater overruns on some Spring Valley properties, but damage reports have been few and far between. Apparently fearful that small floods will precede the 100-year one, county flood buffs have been busily channelizing future rainwater of the Casa de Oro area.

Alfred G. Terry, civil engineer, County Flood Control Division, visiting the area last week said the concrete channels, installed in August were designed to carry rainwater to a more central waterway. In this case, it's the Spring Valley Creek which runs east of Citradora ave. in Casa de Oro.

The channels, 46 feet wide and 24 feet deep follow previous rain water routes but now consolidate them into concrete pathways.

Pleasant Stream

A tributary of the Spring Valley creek is a pleasant little stream in which youngsters play year 'round. It runs through the backyards of several properties in the 4000 block on Citradora—just north of Campo rd.

A channel runs at right angle almost to the property line of the property owned by the William Daceys, long time residents of 4065 Citradora.

The flood engineer, Terry, said the channels were designed to carry off water uphill from Citradora. The one emptying into the Dacey property is said to drain off the rain outflow of some 10 properties to the east. He admitted an extremely heavy rain might cause the S.V. Creek to flood but the smaller tributary along the 4000 block of Citradora wasn't likely to, he said. While it does channel water onto the Dacey property, it's better than having the water run wild on 10 uphill properties, Terry opined.

Sweetwater River

According to Terry, the program is to get the water to the Spring Valley Creek and let it be carried south to the Sweetwater River.

But one new channel ends 15 feet short of the William Dacey property. Mrs. Dacey told this reporter, "I'm scared. Previously, rainwater from uphill dispersed over a wide area. Now it is collected and delivered to my property. It has already eaten a ditch about 6 feet deep to get to my property. That never happened before the channel was installed. I never worried about floods before. I do now. It has been a great joy in the past to watch the water flow softly on summer evenings."

Mrs. Dacey's next door neighbors, the Tim McCombs, are also disturbed. "Our children and their friends play in the creek. It isn't contaminated. It has never dried up nor overflowed. If the water becomes swift and deep it would be a hazard that was not there before," Mrs. McCombs said. "There's an alley beyond our rear property line. It is Helix Water District's right-of-way. That's utility land. They could drain the water over it. It runs the same direction as the creek on our property and its about 20 feet closer the source," she said.

Permission Needed

Terry admitted that the channel could not be put onto either property without permission. And he denied that the wash was cut in the Dacey's property by water from the new channel. "It wasn't there before the channel was put in," Mrs. Dacey retorted. Terry said a rip-rap dissipator would be installed in the area between the end of the drainage channel and the Dacey fence line. A dissipator is a bed of large rocks which reduces the force of the water but doesn't lessen the amount.

Rain water will travel by channel and travel westerly from the uphill properties, pour onto the Dacey property until it finds the little creek about 30 feet inside the Dacey property line, make a sharp left turn and head southward toward the Sweetwater River.

Groups Formed

Meanwhile, several groups have formed. Some are opposing the flood plain overlay plan. Others are complaining about the new channels. Some complain that the engineering is faulty. Others say they had no problems until the government moved in. Others remind that it was undersized culverts engineered by the county which caused slow runoff in years past. This condition has been eased by larger, replacement culverts.

Generally, the complaints are not about floods, it is about flood officials.

Mrs. Simpson, who will serve a two year term, said that as chairman her goal is to get the most financing available, and to use the funds as the community wishes.

She states that under the direction of recreation program director Willie Williams the program and services for preschoolers up through senior citizens has grown. Mrs. Simpson hopes to develop more programs for the seniors.

Community awareness of the programs provided by the park district is another aspect of her position she would like to stress. Too many people are not aware that the after-school recreation program is provided by park tax funds, and she hopes residents will be in favor of a tax initiative to help maintain the community center.

Human Sexuality is Group's Program Topic

A San Diego State sociologist will discuss "Human Sexuality: Problems and Pleasures" with the campus' Single Parents Group on Thursday, October 7.

Dr. John Stephenson, assistant professor of sociology, will speak at the group's monthly evening meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Scripps Cottage on campus.

Stephenson's talk will center on the myths and fallacies of human sexuality. He will also discuss the social and communication aspects of relationships between people.

The talk, which is open to the public at no charge, will be preceded by a potluck dinner also in Scripps Cottage at 5 p.m. For the potluck, it is 50 cents a person (or $1 per family) and a food contribution.

Children are welcome. When the lecture begins, babysitting will be provided for a nominal charge.

Akita's Kanto To Brighten Up San Diego City

The Kanto, or Lantern Festival, an event which has taken place in Akita, Japan, annually for over 300 years, will be performed in downtown San Diego Saturday, October 2, the first and only performance in the United States.

The two-hour performance starting at 7:30 p.m. will be staged for the public in a six-block area on Broadway from Third through State streets.

The Central City Assn. of San Diego, headed by former Mayor Frank Curran now serving as the Association's executive vice president, is coordinating the local presentation with the city of Akita.

Curran explained the "Kanto" literally means bamboo pole (kan) and lantern (to). A kanto is an assemblage of 46 lanterns suspended from bars tied on a 40 foot long pole, with total weight of about 100 pounds. Each lantern is in the shape of a tawara, or rice bale. Performers balance the bamboo poles with the lighted lanterns on the shoulder, waist or forehead and pass it from the shoulder to the hand of another person.

The clusters of lanterns on the tall flagstuffs sway like golden rice plants waving in the wind and in Akita, the festival is celebrated for three days to bring about divine help for a good harvest.

Curran said the performers will be accompanied by musicians playing the drum and flute.

There will be a contingent of 200, including performers, Curran said.

Rock Dig Rescheduled

A rock dig in the Pala Mountain area, cancelled last month because of the early rains, has been rescheduled for the weekend of October 9 and 10 by the mineralogy department of the San Diego Natural History Museum.

Digging will be carried on at the Stewart Lithium mine, normally not open to the public. Pink tourmaline is the object of the dig which, according to Gerry Johnson, Assistant Curator of Minerals, will actually involve very little digging. Much of the material has been removed from the mine and "a screen will be more useful than a pick."

Trip details are available from the Mineralogy Department at the Museum 232-3821. Charge for the event is $5.

Widows Club Meets

The Society of Military Widows holds its monthly meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday, October 2 in the Commissioned Officers Club at the U. S. Naval Station, 32nd st., San Diego.

Meditation is the lecture topic of guest Dr. Kathryn Breese-Whiting, founder and president of the Phoenix Institute, an international group dedicated to the expansion of man's awareness of himself and the universe.

A panel of Press Women will discuss the practical aspects of writing, including copyrights, contracts, plagiarism, agents, magazine rights, and confidentiality of sources.

The one day session will also include a book fair by local writers, and those attending will be able to meet and talk to about two dozen successful authors, journalists, and publishers.

The workshop, which includes luncheon, costs $12.50 for participants registered before October 18, or $15 at the door. For a registration form, contact Mrs. Austin Lynas of Spring Valley at 462-5909 or Press Women, 4510 Mt. Ailfan dr., San Diego, 92111.

The shop, Vada-Lois Salon, will remain open and remain in the family as Mrs. Thornhill's daughter, Ann Hale will continue to operate it.

Mrs. Thornhill says she will miss her many patrons but looks forward to enjoying more time for travel in her motor coach home. Her husband is George Thornhill.

Book Fair to Host

Desi Arnaz in Person

The 13th annual book fair will be held by the Rancho Santa Fe Library Guild on Saturday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. and Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. in the patio of the library on Avenida de Acacias. The quality and variety of this fair draws book dealers and collectors as well as enthusiastic readers, from all parts of southern California.

Guest author Desi Arnaz will attend the fair in person to sign copies of his autobiography "A Book" which tells the behind-the-scenes story of his life in show business as a band-leader and television star of "I Love Lucy."

Tom Blair, co-author with columnist Neil Morgan of "Yesterday's San Diego" a combination of pictures and anecdotes about San Diego from 1542 through the 1950's, and Bradley Smith, whose newest book "The USA in History and Art" continues his pictorial series beginning with "Japan, A History in Art", will join Arnaz at the guest authors' table to autograph copies of their books.

Youth Rec. Program Expands to VLM

The Effective Problem Intervention Center (EPIC) moved its after-school recreation program into the Vista La Mesa area this week.

Officials at EPIC, a non-profit social service center based in Lemon Grove, decided recently that its after-school recreation site at United Church of Christ Congregation, 2770 Glebe rd., Lemon Grove, was too out-of-the-way for youngsters.

Participation at that site had dwindled before EPIC decided to end its program on September 17.

The staff at UCC moved to Vista La Mesa Elementary, 7101 Pearson st., where a program of arts and crafts, recreation and counseling was launched Monday at the request of area residents.

The program at Vista La Mesa and at the two other sites (Monterey Heights and Golden Avenue Elementary Schools) operates from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Called the EPIC Youth Project, constructive, supervised after-school activities for children are carried out at all three locations.

Special projects characterize the program, such as last summer's "Hobo Day" when all three centers' children hiked to Lemon Grove County Park for a hobo-style picnic. Other field activities were go-karting, horse-back riding, star gazing and trips to the beaches, museums and Zoo.

Ideas flowing for the autumn program include trips to Disneyland, Universal Studios and to the east county mountains for a day of frolic in the snow.

EPIC also will continue to run the Spring Valley Teen Center at 8708 Jamacha rd., open Monday through Friday from 1 to 9 p.m.

Funding difficulties closed a similar teen center in La Mesa recently. Teens in that program will be transported to the Spring Valley Center until EPIC acquires money to reopen the La Mesa Center.

Funding for the programs now in operation is scheduled to last through March, 1977.

EPIC is funded by a sub-contract with HHRA. The program is administered by the County using Federal Revenue Sharing funds.

Electricity costs more when everyone uses it at once.

This time of year, more people use more electricity between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. than during any other time of day. A lot more. SDG&E calls it the "peak demand" period and it's important because it can affect your electric bill.

The peak peaks because everyone in the family seems to find more ways to use electricity around dinnertime. The peak costs money because SDG&E must be prepared to meet everyone's needs at once. Usually, this means using less efficient generating facilities.

SDG&E wants you to know about some of the things we will be doing to level off peak demand. Because these efforts can help to hold down your future electric bills.

Right now, SDG&E is working with very large commercial and industrial electricity users, trying to help them shift some of their uses to less busy times of the day or night. Since business, industry and government account for about two-thirds of SDG&E's total electric demand, this could be a big help.

However, most of the demand between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. comes from residential users. Like you. For this reason, SDG&E will soon begin asking you to help level electricity peaks too.

You can help by doing things that require electricity at times other than around dinnertime. Things like washing and drying clothes, running the dishwasher, baking and ironing. And be especially sensitive to electric waste, unnecessary lights and unwatched TV sets.

Holding down peak demand can do a lot to hold down electricity costs. SDG&E will be telling you more about how to do it in the months ahead.

SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

BYU's High-Powered Attack Due Saturday

Brigham Young U., fresh from a big win over Arizona last week, brings its high-powered passing attack to S.D. Stadium Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. game with the San Diego Aztecs.

BYU upset Arizona in Tucson before 31,000 last week to run their record to 2-1 for the year. In that game Cougar quarterback Gifford Nielson hit 18 of 28 passes for 200 yards and two touchdowns. The second TD pass was a 44 yard strike to George Harris with just three seconds to play.

The win gives BYU a 2-0 record in Western Athletic Conference play and establishes them as one of the teams to beat since Arizona State is off to an 0-2 start in non-conference action.

Nielson, who last year as a sophomore was the nation's 10th best passer hitting 110 of 180 for 1471 yards and 10 TD's, is among the nations top 10 passers this season. In three games he has completed 46 of 90 for 514 yards, six TD's and an average of 15.3 completions per game.

Nielson is 6-5, 195 and was a varsity basketball letterman at BYU, averaging 8.7 as a sophomore before he decided to concentrate on football.

The Aztecs last week ran their record to 3-0 with an impressive 27-15 win over Bowling Green on the road.

San Diego State tailback David (Deacon) Turner was the story again as he rambled for 209 yards on 27 carries, including one 60 yard bolt for a score. Turner now has rushed for 533 yards on 87 carries in his first three college games.

Turner ranks second in the NCAA in rushing this week with a per game average of 177.7 yards. Rickey Bell of USC is tops with 180.7 yards. Bell has 542 yards on 98 carries for a 5:6 per carry average while Turner is averaging 6.1 yards per carry.

Aztec quarterback Pete Tereschuk made his first appearance of the season in the Bowling Green game and responded by hitting 11 of 22 passes for 130 yards and a TD. Tereschuk came on in relief of Joe Davis early in the second quarter and directed the Aztecs to all 27 points. Tereschuk will be the starter against BYU.

"I'm very pleased with the way the team played against Bowling Green," said Aztec coach Claude Gilbert. "I think this is the best one of my teams has ever played on the road. The defense was just outstanding and of course Turner was tremendously impressive again.

Gilbert's observation underwent a drastic change from the week before when he admitted that he wasn't pleased because he couldn't understand what was going on during the play.

The Aztecs plans to keep the coach happy this week.

Parker To Head IVA's Breakers

The IVA's Most Valuable Player for 1976 has been named Breakers' new Player-Coach for 1977. Dodge Parker, a 5-time USVBA All-American and a member of 4 U.S. National Teams, has run the offense for both of the IVA's Championship teams; the Los Angeles Stars in '75 and the Breakers in '76.

Parker replaces Rudy Suwara, the man who has coached the Breakers since their birth two years ago and was responsible for bringing a volleyball championship title to San Diego.

At season's end Suwara was selected as Head Coach for the San Diego State men's and women's volleyball teams, a full-time obligation.

AMA, NASCAR Run For Big Money

In the most ambitious month since he assumed sole operation of Ascot Park, J. C. Agajainian will distribute a total of $70,000 in prize money during an October schedule opening with an American Motorcycle Association half-mile program, Friday night (Oct. 1) at 8 p.m.

The AMA event will be a prelude to the 20-lap national half-mile finale of the 28-race Camel Pro Series being staged on Saturday, Oct. 9. The latter event will account for approximately $22,000 of the total monthly output in purse, accessory awards, and point money.

The Michigan trio of Jay Springsteen, Rex Beauchamp, and Ted Boody are all expected for the Friday, October 1 contest along with Californians Alex Jorgensen of Stockton and Steve Eklund of San Jose.

Following the big motorcycle weekend, which also includes the Golden West TT for experts and the Golden West Invitational for novices and juniors, Ascot will host an open stock-car event, sanctioned by NASCAR on Oct. 15-16, and the Pacific Coast Open sprint-car championships, Oct. 21-22-23.

Openings are still available for many fall semester classes at the La Mesa Department of Parks and Recreation, announced Bob Caesar, program supervisor. Registration is at 4975 Memorial dr., La Mesa, until Friday, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Classes include silver-making, belly dancing, hula, exercise and dance, adult tennis, Christmas crafts and flower arranging.

There are limited openings in children's classes: crafts, tennis, guitar, pre-school, baton, ballet, tumbling and acrobatics. For information, call 469-4128.

Chargers Face Another Test in Denver Sunday

The Chargers are in Denver polishing up their 3-0 record and basking in the warmth of complimentary remarks by head coach Tommy Prothro and Cards head coach Don Coryell.

Both said the Chargers played splendidly.

A sellout crowd of 63,532 will be on hand when the teams face off at 1 p.m. San Diego time. San Diego and Denver (2-1) are old rivals and enthusiasm is running high for this meeting. Both teams need to win to keep the Oakland Raiders in their sights. The Raiders play New England Sunday.

League Top Scorers

The Broncos of coach John Ralston lead the NFL in scoring with 97 points. Prothro's team has 96. Denver has not allowed a team to score more than 17 points in the last 14 games. They're good!

San Diego leads the American Conference in total offense with a 415-yard average. Rushing average is 228 yards. The game will be aired on KSDO by Hope Hines and Tommy Mason. It will be telecast on KGTV 10.

Leaders All

Otis Armstrong, recovered from a severe hamstring pull which sidelined him for 10 games in 1975, is leading Denver in rushing this year with 213 yards, a 3.6 average and three touchdowns.

Quarterback Steve Ramsey has passed for 455 yards with three touchdowns and four interceptions. San Diego State's Haven Moses is the top receiver with eight catches for 172 yards and two touchdowns. Rick Upchurch leads the AFC in punt returns with a 17.0 average and two touchdowns.

Led by Pro Bowl middle linebacker Randy Gradishar, the Denver defense has allowed only 33 points and one touchdown rushing.

Fouts Wins Prize

At the end of his greatest game, Charger quarterback Dan Fouts was greeted by two old friends among the media in the dressing room.

"It felt so good to be here and see Danny play so well," said Dan Maguire, sports columnist of the Honolulu Advertiser. "I'm sorry his dad wasn't here. He's in Europe. He would have been real proud of him."

Maguire was public relations director of the San Francisco 49ers when Bob Fouts was 49er broadcaster and water boy. Fouts was "the kid who always got in the way at training camp by throwing footballs."

Maguire recalled that young Fouts was an admirer of 49er quarterback Y. A. Tittle. "I see Danny wears the same No. 14 jersey."

The other old friend was Johnny Unitas, who was analyst on the CBS telecast. Unitas and Fouts joined the Chargers in the same year of 1973, Unitas at the end of his career, Fouts as a rookie from the U. of Oregon.

Did your razor blade fall out," Unitas greeted the handsomely bearded Fouts.

"Dan did a super job today," said Unitas.

Back Pat From Tommy

According to Charger coach Tommy Prothro, Fouts might have had a perfect day of 18-18 pass completion instead of 15-18. "Two were dropped and he got too careful on the other," said Prothro of the three long passes which narrowly missed their mark.

Fouts' performance rewarded the Charger coach, whose faith in the young quarterback remained stalwart through a 1975 season of adversity.

Prothro told the San Diego press before the Cardinal game, "Fouts was a lot better last year than people thought, and he is better this year. He's having a great season."

BEAUTY CONTEST — It is a new approach but it has merit. Tow truck operators met Sunday for a "beauty contest" at Hanalei Hotel. Only two trucks were entered — drivers were banned.

In the photo is a $55,000 rig capable of towing the largest school bus. It won second place in the Sunday contest. With foot on the step is Ed Wood, operator of Glenview Towing of El Cajon. Looking on is Bob Holaday, operator of Lemon Grove Motors on Broadway, who is vice president of the S.D. Chapter of the 250-member California Tow Truck Assn. and a director of the state board. Wood brought his rig to Lemon Grove where it was daintily decorated with signs applied by Fisk Signs on Lester ave.

More than 25 rigs were judged; Some came from as far as San Francisco.

Park Priorities Listed For Coastal Bond Issue

State Parks and Recreation Director Herbert Rhodes has issued a list of nearly 100 projects proposed for funding under the $280 million Coastal Bond Act.

The Bond Act, which will be Proposition 2 on the November Ballot, includes $110 million for State Park System acquisition in the coastal area, plus $13 million for statewide acquisition and $21 million for statewide development, including historical projects.

An additional $26 million is included for development of recreational facilities at State Water Project facilities, and another $15 million is allocated to the State Wildlife Conservation Board for acquisition and development of wildlife areas, $10 million of which is earmarked for the coast.

Some $85 million of the $280 million total is allocated for grants to cities, counties, and districts on a population basis, but with no county receiving less than $200,000.

An additional $10 million is allocated to a special Coastal Conservancy program set up by the Legislature to preserve open space and provide public access.

Coastal Acquisitions

The $110 million allocated to the State Park System for coastal acquisitions would be used for 27 projects totaling over 16,000 acres and including 38 miles of shoreline. Nearly all these lands, Rhodes noted, have also been recommended by the State Coastal Commission for public acquisition.

The State Park System coastal acquisition projects include a major addition to Torrey Pines State Reserve to preserve the wetlands of Penasquitos Lagoon.

The $13 million allocated for general State Park System acquisition totaling 38,000 acres throughout the State would be used for 9 new projects plus acquisition of critical inholdings at several existing SPS units.

Among the new projects is acquisition of a large valley which would consolidate Cuyamaca Rancho State Park with Anza-Borrego Desert State Park in San Diego County.

Development Projects

The $21 million allocated for State Park System construction

tion and development would be used for 24 projects, including four historical projects:

Local among these are projects at San Onofre and South Carlsbad State Beaches.

The former is to provide additional group camping and recreational vehicle camping on the Old Coast Highway at the Trestles project. The latter is a project to provide day use and sanitary facilities, utilities and landscaping at the South Carlsbad Beach.

Also included in development plans are two inland projects, at Old Town San Diego and at Cuyama Rancho State Park. Additional parking is proposed for the historic buildings and plaza in Old Town San Diego State Historic Park.

Group camping and sanitary facilities and utilities are planned for Cuyamaca Rancho State Park.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The first time I met John Goudy I weighed in at 147 pounds. You can just guess how long ago that was. World War II was over, but Korea was a far off place yet to spring on the front pages.

In those days John Goudy was the Chief Petty Officer in charge and head coach of the Naval Air Forces, Pacific, boxing team.

He came by the post honestly enough. John signed up in the early 30's and earned his stripes before the war. He was a First Class Painter back before some genius changed the rate to Damage Controlman.

It was in '38 or '39 that John won the Pacific Fleet light heavyweight crown. He was in Battleships then and used to tell those of us on the 1943 team how tough things were for athletes in the "Old Navy."

The Navy had swung back to peace time styles in the late 40's and varsity teams clashed in full league competition in most sports on major commands and fleet units. There was baseball, fast-pitch softball, football and boxing almost everywhere.

During the season we'd fight between 16 and 20 home-and-home "smokers" with other area commands and enter five or six national tournaments. The big one in '48 was the Olympics, but I ate myself out of contention on that one.

Coaches in other sports came from professional or college ranks, but most boxing mentors were old Navy fighters. Guys like Jimmy Waterman and Patty Ryan. And, of course, John Goudy.

John looked like an old fighter. Somewhere along the line he busted his nose often enough that it lost all shape. If it stood out at all, it was from memory.

We worked out at South Field on North Island Naval Air Station. It's gone, now. The old gym, the handball courts, and baseball field are all gone in favor of a runway extension.

But back in '48 and '49 that corner of the old base had plenty of action. Chaplain Ed Faye had the baseball team, a semi-wild bunch of two fisted beer drinkers who played baseball during the week and just played on the weekend. We all used the same locker room facilities and boxers and ball players got along in first rate fashion.

Fighters tend to stall a little bit on the daily grind of sweat and punishment and cheat a little on roadwork. Instead of running we used sneak around and watch the ball players working out.

Goudy caught on soon enough and began "supervising" our roadwork, sending us miles on the loose sand of Coronado beach. He was a good coach and made us better than we should have been fighters.

As tough as Old John was, his pretty and pert wife, Lou, was even tougher. She kept us on the straight and narrow path, saw to it we wrote home and mothered the hell out of us.

As a group, the AirPac boxing team did all right that season. I guess the high point was our winning the Pacific Fleet team title for John.

The lighter weights didn't come through and we went into the finals at the Armed Forces YMCA without a point up to the middleweight clash.

I got lucky. I fought a guy from the Naval Hospital team and caught him looping his left. I stepped in and nailed him and won going away.

Leon Hart KO'd his light heavyweight opponent and Kirby Seals knocked out his heavyweight foe, a fellow AirPac fighter named Randy Clark. Three wins and a runner-up and John had the team crown.

Goudy went on to take raw fighters, polish their skills and coach more of them to fleet honors. All-Navy titles and Inter-Service crowns than any Navy coach who ever faced a glove on a scrappy kid.

We developed almost a father-son relationship, as a good coach often does with a troubled kid, and kept touching bases over the years.

Lou Goudy never changed. Neither did John. She was the boss and both of us knew it. Her advice was sound, straight from the shoulder and honest as hell. She was a fighter herself. Right to the end.

Lou had cancer. She battled it a long time. She was in and out of Balboa Naval Hospital a dozen times. Finally they sent her home and wouldn't take her back. She was terminal. Medicine could do no more.

Lou died early in the morning on Friday September 17th. She fought her last fight, there was no more to give. John spent the rest of the day in kind of a daze, making funeral arrangements, calling friends. We called him Saturday morning, my wife and I, and went to comfort him that afternoon.

By the time we got there, he, too, was gone. The old Warhorse had been sick himself. A number of ailments could have claimed him. But take it from me.

With Lou gone, John Goudy died of a broken heart. Please God. Bless them and grant them eternal peace.

Mistaken Identity

A sports writer earlier this week was looking over the front page of his copy of the Evening Tribune.

On page one was the Sheri Linda Jappa story — she who was kidnapped for four days ... and found.

The story read "Bound, gagged and blindfolded etc. etc."

A reporter, looking over his shoulder asked "Is that story about Tito Fuentes?"

U.S. Pro Stocks To Go For Crown

EAST IRVINE — Wally Booth of Berkeley, Michigan will be bringing an impressive winning streak to Orange County International Raceway Saturday in the first-ever United States Pro Stock Championships beginning at 7 p.m.

Earlier this month at Seattle in the National Hot Rod Assn. "Fall Nationals", Booth recorded his second consecutive National Championship in the always tough Pro-Stock category, as the AMC Hornet driver set the lowest time in qualifying and also low elapsed time for the entire meet. Booth recently captured the U. S. Nationals at Indianapolis, and moved into the number three position in the World Championship behind Larry Lombardo of Malvern, PA and Warren Johnson of Fridley, Minn.

Joining Booth this Saturday night at Orange County will be Lombardo who will be behind the wheel of the popular "Grumpy's Toy", prepared by Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins, one of drag racing's all-time winning drivers. Lombardo holds a 596 point lead in the Winston World Championship point standings which is worth over $25,000 to the winning driver.

Lombardo also brings 1976 Monza to Orange County which holds the N.H.R.A. national elapsed time record at 8.59 seconds. Lombardo has captured three National Championships this season at the Gatornationals, Summernationals and Grandnationals.

Along with the Pro Stocks, the "Run What Ya Brung" Match Race stockers will be run. Gates open at noon. Eliminations start at 7 p.m.

Amateur Motocrossers Set For Carlsbad Race

The nation's top 135 amateur motocrossers — 15 in each of three classes from Atlantic, Midwest, and Pacific Regions — have been qualified for the national final of the Can-Am National Amateur Motocross (CANAM) Championship Series, slated October 17 at Carlsbad Raceway, Cal., according to the American Motorcycle Assn.

Regional champions were determined Sunday, September 12, at semi-finals competition held at Louisville, Ky., for the Atlantic Region; West Monroe, La., for the Midwest Region; and Sacramento, for the Pacific Region.

The 135 young amateur motocrossers qualifying for the CANAM national final survived eliminations which started with over 50,000 competitors in AMA district-level competition and progressed through 22 area qualifying events and three regional semi-finals across the country.

Sponsored for the second consecutive year by the Can-Am Motorcycle Division of Bombardier Limited in conjunction with the AMA, the CANAM Series will determine national amateur MX champions in 125cc, 250cc, and open classes. Last year's CANAM Series crowned national amateur MX champs for the first time in motocycling history.

Three of the racers are from San Diego, one of whom is Jim Martin of El Cajon.

Two Padre Games To Be Televised

SAN DEGO — Ch. 6 concludes the station's six-game "live" Padre telecast season this weekend with two midday broadcasts of late-season play between the San Diegans and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jerry Coleman and Bob Chandler will announce play-by-play action for both games, with pre-game interviews from Dodger Stadium set at 12:45 p.m. Saturday and Sunday for the 1 p.m. games.

The Padre-Dodger coverage will be preceded both days by "Baseball Highlights" at 12:30

Shortest Pre-Game Season for Mariners

One of the shortest professional pre-season schedules on record belongs to the S.D. Mariners when the WHL team opens with an exhibition game Saturday and wraps the season up Sunday.

They'll play the Spokane Flyers and the Trail Smoke-Eaters Sunday.

The regular season opens October 9 at the Sports Arena with Cincinnati Stingers at 7 p.m.

Ingram has a chance to look at a San Diego team in exhibition game that has revamped its defense, apparently strengthened its goal-tending and will not have one forward line intact from last year.

Defensively, the Mariners have Brent Hughes and Kevin Morrison, two standout holdovers, blending with newcomers Gregg Boddy, from National League Vancouver, and WHA premier defender Paul Shmyr, obtained in an off-season trade after being named the league's top blue liner in 1975-76 at Cleveland.

In addition, San Diego has Bob Falkenberg, returning from last year, rookie Bruce Northrup and Swedish import Per Karlsson. Karlsson, a 6-5, 215-pounder, joined the club on a tryout last week after spending two weeks at the NHL Los Angeles camp.

In goal, veteran Ernie Wakeley is supported by NHL Vancouver acquisition Ken Lockett. Lockett was slowed in early drills by a back sprain but worked late last week and is expected to be ready.

Groupies

Although his lines are not definite, one grouping Ingram has deployed has WHA all-time scoring leader Andre Lacroix at center flanked by returnee Wayne Rivers at right wing and Gary Veneruzzo, purchased from Phoenix, on the left.

Ingram must pare his roster to the WHA allowable maximum of 16 skaters and two goalies before the Oct. 9 opener.

In an internal move last week, Lacroix was named Mariner team captain replacing Ferguson. Ferguson was the only captain the team has known since it began operation as the New York Raiders in 1972 but asked to be relieved of that responsibility.

Lacroix is also president of the World Hockey Players' Assn.

Padres Kiss Season Adieu With Finale in Los Angeles

The San Diego Padres will bid farewell to the 1976 National League campaign in the next few days as the club puts the wraps on the season with three games in Los Angeles with the second place Dodgers.

The Padres, still jockeying around for a final position in the Western Division standings, will visit the Dodgers for single contests Friday through Sunday. The series opener will be at 7:30 p.m. while the final two meetings will get underway at 1:05 p.m. The game set for Saturday afternoon is actually a makeup of a rainout in Los Angeles at the beginning of the season back on April 12.

Despite the fact the home season has come to a close for the Padres, fans will still have a chance to see the club as the Saturday and Sunday games will be shown live in San Diego on KXTV Ch. 6. The station will have pre-game shows each day at 12:45 p.m. with Jerry Coleman and Bob Chandler handling the play-by-play.

San Diego has already assured itself of the best record ever against the Dodgers as the Padres enter the final three games in Los Angeles leading the season series 10-5. The previous best for the Padres was in 1973 when the clubs finished in a 9-9 standoff.

Interestingly enough, that season was kind of a "backwards year" for the two clubs as San Diego won the series in Los Angeles 7-2, only to drop the nine games at home by an identical margin. This season the Padres stand at 4-2 in Los Angeles while the final accounting in San Diego gave the Padres a 6-3 advantage.

"We'd like nothing better than to finish out the season by taking the series from the Dodgers up at their place," said manager John McNamara who is completing his third season at the Padres helm. "Actually, we've got an opportunity to have our best season series ever against any club in the league if we can won two of the three games and that's certainly not out of the realm of possibility based on the way we've been playing them all season long. That would certainly finish the year out right for us."

For the record, the best season series in club history have been 11-7 marks against Atlanta in 1972 and 1975 and San Francisco in 1974 and 10-8 against Cincinnati in 1972.

Metzger, Muncey Tapped by S.D. HoC

Professionals Butch Metzger and Bill Muncey and amateur Scott Robeson have been selected as San Diego sports stars of the Month for August by the Hall of Champions Breitbard Athletic Awards Committee.

Metzger, ace of the San Diego bullpen, appeared in 17 games during the month, won two and ran his 1976 record to 10-0 to equal a Nat'l League record for a first-year relief pitcher before Montreal handed him his first defeat August 28. In August he also had three saves and gave up only 10 runs while working 28 1/3 innings.

Recognition was accorded Muncey for capturing his fifth Gold Cup hydroplane national championship during a campaign which saw him win five out of seven major regattas. The La Mesa veteran led the way in two heats of the Seattle nationals only to be forced out in the finals by mechanical breakdown, and a week earlier at Pasco, Wash., he had taken top honors in the prestigious Tri-Cities regatta.

Young Robeson was a unanimous choice among the amateur nominees on the basis of his amazing performance in the Toronto Olympics for the physically handicapped. A for-

King Crowning Will Wait Until Speedway's Finale

The 23-race regular campaign of the Cajon Speedway comes to an end Saturday night with a 20-lap consolation and 30-lap semi main and the 40-lap main with the season's championship within grasp of the second placer.

After Saturday comes a CRA Sprint program followed on October 19 by a 100-lap open superstock event.

Saturday, 21-year old Ron Esau captured his second straight 40-lap super stock car main event to get within range of the 1976 crown.

Esau was El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn.'s rookie of the year three seasons ago, scored an impressive six-car length win over Larry Lyon of Santee in 12 minutes, 59.48 seconds.

He has now moved to within 135 points of standings leader Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley, whose convertible Camaro limped across in 15th spot. The 34-year old McIntyre, seeking an unprecedented fourth crown, encountered engine trouble on the 26th lap when he was in third spot.

For the fifth consecutive super stock car season the championship won't be decided until the checkered flag drops at the end of the Grand Prix — this time a Bicentennial 76 lapper scheduled for Cajon Speedway's swift three-eighths of a mile paved oval Saturday night.

Tension will be mounting as three-time champion Pat McIntyre and hard-charging Ron Esau and longshot Lanny Pemberton lead a field of 60 qualifiers at 6:30 p.m. The trophy dash is set for 8.

A smoking engine in McIntyre's red convertible Camaro and Esau's brilliant come-from-behind 40-lap victory — his fourth this season — closed the gap. McIntyre, who seems to be in these struggles about every year, has gathered 2,380 points while Esau has closed with 2,245. Pemberton, who also encountered engine problems last week in his Camaro, is third with 2,175 points.

McIntyre won titles in 1972, '73 and '75 by the narrowest of margins — all of them determined on the final night. He nipped Tom Zelesky for his first title, beat John Dieneen in '73 and Tim Biggers last year. Ron Overman, currently sixth in the standings, edged out Gary Crossland by the slimmest margin — four points — in 1974.

Children from 3 to 18 with a chronic disease should consult their family doctor.

There are two forms of vaccine. The monovalent is for healthy persons between 18 and 59. The bivalent vaccine is for those over 18 suffering from a chronic disease, and for those over 60. Chronic diseases include those of the heart, lungs, bronchial tubes, kidneys and metabolism, such as diabetes.

Finsterhall's Sinor To Greet Fans at Park

Visitors to the San Diego Wild Animal Park October 1, 2 and 3 can meet floppy-eared and fuzzy-tailed Finsterhall of San Pasqual and his biographer, John Sinor, author and noted columnist.

Sinor's recently published "Finsterhall of San Pasqual," a 78-page illustrated book in both hard- and paperback, is the story of a young rabbit's strange and humorous encounters at the Wild Animal Park as being built.

Finsterhall meets with strange creatures like elephants, giraffes, rhinos, cheetahs, and finally a kind-hearted keeper during his exploits over the 1800-acre wildlife preserve.

Copies of "Finsterhall" will be on sale in the Park's Gift Shop in Nairobi Village beginning October 1. Sinor will autograph copies of the book and meet Park visitors from 2 to 6 p.m. Friday and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

General admission to Nairobi Village is $2 for adults and free for children 15 and under. Special adult package, including admission and monorail tour, is $3.75.

The Wild Animal Park is open daily at 9 a.m., and through October will remain open to 8 p.m. Fridays, Saturdays and Sunday. All other days during autumn, the Park closes at 5 p.m.

Rabid Bat Caught By Jamul Woman

Quick thinking on the part of June Stoughton of Jamul, enabled the County Veterinarian to confirm the third case of rabies reported in the County this year.

Mrs. Stoughton was in her yard when a bat flew at her and then flopped on the ground. Having just recently read about rabid bats in the county, Mrs. Stoughton took off her robe and threw it over the bat and transported the bat to the County Veterinarian for examination.

"The exposure of cats to rabies is of particular concern because when bats have rabies they flop about on the ground and are often mistaken for mice by cats," said County Veterinarian Dr. Hubert Johnstone.

The law requires all dogs four months or age and over to be vaccinated against rabies. Revaccinations are required every two years. However, there are no similar requirements for cats, although it is strongly recommended that cats are also vaccinated.

Vaccinations for cats are available from any veterinarian or at special cat clinics sponsored by the San Diego Veterinary Medical Assn. (466-3400).

The County Veterinarian's office phone is 565-5395.

EPIC Reports

Dear Editor:

Our EPIC summer youth program was quite successful.

The highlight of the summer included such activities as Hobo Days, Beach Trips, Museum Trip, Zoo Trip for the elementary sites.

Our teens enjoyed such special activities as Star-gazing, Horseback Riding, Go-Karting, Beach Trips, attendance at three professional sports events, and a week of canoeing on the Colorado River. Along with our special activities our sites were all open daily for general recreational programs.

We are presently looking forward to an exciting fall.

Part of our excitement is with the expansion of our third site from the United Church of Christ location to Vista La Mesa Elementary school located at 7101 Pearson. Our new site opened this week and is open Monday through Friday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Our other elementary school sites, Monterey Heights and Golden Avenue, already operating is run from 3-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Our teen program is still going strong, but will also be operating out of a new location.

Due to some funding difficulties our La Mesa teens will be car-pooled out to the Spring Valley Center, until adequate funds are available to reopen the La Mesa Youth Center.

The Spring Valley Center is opened Monday through Friday from 1-9 p.m.

Dottie Pettes is telephone contact at 462-3742 or 464-1711.

EPIC is at 3319 Buena Vista ave. in Lemon Grove.

Group Intimidated

Dear Editor:

Some citizens are blaming the lack of litter cleanup on the group of volunteer workers — the War On Litter Committee.

This non-profit group is not an enforcement agency. It is a motivation and education group sanctioned by San Diego City and County to make public cognizant of litter problems and solutions. It also attempts to encourage more enforcement. Citizen groups are encouraged to undertake community cleanups and anti-litter projects, through WOLCO effort.

A litter committee is not the most glamorous organization to belong to yet a certain percentage of citizens care enough to contribute their time. Last year volunteers

Stress (Who Needs It?) is UCSD Class

Stress in our lives can be handled if people know what to expect, and if they feel they have some control in handling the outcome, says Harvey Selverston, a consultant on stress.

Selverston will teach a UC San Diego Extension course "Learning to Deal with Life Stress". Scheduled for 7:30-9:45 p.m. Wednesdays, October 6-27, the course will be held in the International Center Lounge, Matthews Campus, UCSD.

The class is for the general public, Selverston says. "It's for people who work in pressurized occupations, or people who want to deal with everyday life stress, such as housewives handling the kids, a teacher, someone in management, etc."

Selverston says that some people enjoy stressful situations and working under pressure. But this can be overtaxing to their nervous system, can lower resistance, and the person can end up with a coronary, an ulcer or high blood pressure," he says.

For registration, call Extension at 452-3400, or register at the door the first night of class.

Bandjamboree Tickets on Sale

The Grossmont School District High School bands and drill teams will perform at the annual Bandjamboree at the Aztec Bowl November 6 at 7:15 p.m.

were responsible for the removal of 2,000 tons of trash from San Diego communities and provided educational programs to 17,000 children and adults. These volunteers became involved. Their efforts are not to be discounted.

To eliminate the War on Litter Committee would be to imply that these volunteer efforts have been ineffective and unnecessary in helping to keep America's Finest City clean.

Rights for Policemen

Dear Sir:

Recent passage and signing by Gov. Brown of AB 3229 causes me some concern. Isn't it just another jab by the lawmakers at the rights of all California policemen?

I can't argue that portion that prohibits striking policemen for carrying concealed weapons, however, prohibiting them from carrying any loaded firearm is in direct conflict with section 1 of the second amendment of the United States Constitution.

It needs to be pointed out that policemen already have less "right" than an illegal alien. It is also illegal for them to strike, which is a right all other American workers have. Rather than passing gun laws that infringe upon constitutional rights, why not force governmental agencies into required, good-faith bargaining with binding arbitration. If the California policemen were dealt a fair wage adjustment with the cost of living increase in mind, there wouldn't be any strikes in the first place.

A. G. Kneeshaw

More Sign Input

Dear Editor:

This is to let you know that I removed approximately 200 illegally posted political signs put on utility poles along Lemon Grove's thoroughfares by school board candidates. I contributed 3 1/2 hours of work to the job.

I was impressed to do so by an article you wrote and by a letter to the editor in the September 23 issue.

I am hoping that my action will restore public faith in all of the candidates although I did not put up any signs at all, and I hope the negative reaction to the signs does not reflect on me.

I feel that I have shown a sample of political discipline and I hope that in removing the objectionable signs I have not lost the support nor the faith of anyone concerned with maintaining the present quality of our school board.

'Explicit' Newsstands Target of New Law

Major legislation to protect young people from explicit pornography has been signed by Governor Brown. The measure is Assembly Bill 3495 introduced by Assemblyman Bob Wilson of La Mesa.

Wilson's bill makes it a crime for any person to have a coin-operated vending machine on a public sidewalk displaying explicit sexual material within a third of a mile of any elementary school, junior or senior high school, or public playground. A third of a mile is about 3 city blocks. It may affect the "girlie" newsstands on Broadway near the Sheriff's office.

Wilson said, "This legislation is a major step in protecting our young people from pornographic material being displayed in see-through vending machines which openly display explicit sexual material to entice young people to purchase the magazines or tabloids.

In some instances young people are using their school lunch money to purchase this material.

By prohibiting the sale of this material within close proximity to schools, we are helping to protect our young people from forced exposure to explicit sexual material."

Upon the resumption of school Dr. Gregory Panawek discovered that students from his junior and senior classes at Mount Miguel High School retained their lessons. Several of them had received awards in woodworking at the Del Mar Fair during the summer.

Tim Danner's mugs and bowl won two seconds and one third. The bowls and jewelry box made by Jim Russ won a second and two fourths. Jeff Mitchell's tv cabinet won a fourth, and bowl-crafted by John Rose took a fifth prize.

Study Team Wanted For Trip To Japan

Rotary clubs in S. Cal. are accepting applications from young, non-Rotarian, business and professional men to form a five-man study team going to Japan next March under a Rotary International Foundation program designed to help foster world understanding.

Ben Clark of Coronado, governor of Rotary District 534, also announced the team's leader will be C. Douglas Clements, member of the Rotary Club of Poway and a lieutenant serving in the San Diego County Sheriff's Department. District 534 has 38 Rotary clubs.

The study team from S. Cal. will repay a visit to this area earlier this year by a study team from the Nagoya region of Japan, under the Rotary Foundation's Group Study Exchange (GSE) program.

Young single or married men between 25 and 35 who are not Rotarians and who are interested in the upcoming visit to Japan may obtain application blanks from their nearest Rotary club.

Said Clark: "This all-transportation-expenses-paid trip offers a unique person-to-person opportunity for promoting better understanding and friendly relations between Japan and our country."

In recent years, Rotarians from Southern California have sent similar study groups to, and received like groups from, Australia, France, Southeast Asia, and Brazil.

A Look at Past Issues

Back Pages

A look at the pages of this newspaper twenty years ago reveals some of the interesting contrasts between then and now. This column highlights some of the items that appeared in this newspaper at this time two decades ago.

By Bruce Binkowski

Lemon Grove was second in new construction in unincorporated areas of the county in August of 1956 with new homes and building valued at $337,000. Vista topped the list with a $364,000 figure.

President Eisenhower's birthday was planned to be celebrated by citizens of Lemon Grove, regardless of party affiliation. One of Ike's favorite dishes, southern fried chicken, was to be served. In addition, a huge birthday cake was to be cut for the October 13 celebration. The story in the Review/Bulletin did not say who sponsored the affair but a good guess would be the incumbent party office of the area.

A uniform sales tax of 4% was in effect for the entire county. No matter where in the county a purchase was to be made, the sales tax of 4% would be added and collected by the State Board of Equalization. In Lemon Grove, the rate had been 3%.

Due to the tax increase, an extra $60,000 would be collected in the Lemon Grove area and returned to the community. The money was earmarked to be used for a recreation program, with or without additional police protection, and better library facilities. Spring Valley, with the added tax money that community was to receive, was also looking into a potential library and Brookside was interested in having its draining ditch covered.

The mayor of San Diego, Charles Dail, was offered an invitation to speak to the Lemon Grove Men's Club and the mayor accepted. This decision was made at the final weekly meeting for September at the men's club.

The 1956 football season opened and in the college ranks, the San Diego State Aztecs defeated Pepperdine 27-7.

National 4-H Week

Nearly 6,000 4-H members in San Diego County will take part in celebrating National 4-H Week with club exhibits and public demonstrations from October 3 to 9.

Youth Program Leader E. J. (Tony) Hauser stated that this year's slogan is "4-H — Room to Grow". Hauser also pointed out that the 4-H youth program provides all youth everywhere, regardless of race, color or national origin "opportunities to participate with a 'learn by doing' experience."

The 4-H headquarters in San Diego County are located in Building 4, 5555 Overland ave., San Diego, CA. 92123.

County Shares Forest Reserves, Tax Returns

State Controller Kenneth Cory has announced the apportionment of $23,429,805 among the 39 counties sharing in 1975-76 revenues from United States Forest Reserves.

This was $6,235,240 more than the apportionment for the previous year, an increase of 36.26 per cent, Cory said. The apportionment represents 25 per cent of the total Federal revenues received from forest reserves in California during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1976.

San Diego County's share was $37,966.93.

Siskiyou County received the largest single apportionment, $3,640,044. Trinity County was next with $2,269,301, followed by Plumas County with $1,653,660.

One-half of the amount apportioned to each county is deposited in its County School Service Fund, and one-half in its County Road Fund.

Cory also announced payment of $263.3 million to counties as reimbursement for income lost through State-mandated exemptions from the personal property tax on business tax on business inventories.

San Diego County received $10.6 million as its share.

before more than 11,000 fans in the Aztec Bowl. In later years, the Aztecs were to be built into a football powerhouse and are now housed in San Diego Stadium.

Can you remember what area of the world was brewing into a major crisis twenty years ago this week? The Middle East, then as today, was in the world spotlight. The Suez Canal crisis was in the new daily and the eyes of the world were watching.

A men's fashion survey for the fall of 1956 looked this way: Color was making a definite but subdued entry in men's wear. The standard "dressy dark" shades were sharing the spotlight with medium grays, blue-greens and brown tones.

As far as style is concerned, the slim silhouette with straight, natural lines remained popular, with the natural shoulders and narrower lapels. The three button, single breasted model was racing past the two-button suit in popularity. Flap pockets were preferred.

Another new and popular style was the double-breasted suit which featured narrower lapels, more natural shoulders and slimmer lines than the former bulky, double-breasted model. This style was to have been favored by the mature man.

'Leave Town' Match Set at S.D. Coliseum

Chavo Guererro won the heavyweight wrestling crown from The Hangman Tuesday night at the Coliseum and to add insult to injury, a non-title match has been rescheduled between the two. It is a "Loser Leave Town" match.

The match headlines the card Tuesday starting at 7:30.

A Tag Team Title Defense match pits Raul and Carlos Mata against The Scorpions of Mexico City.

In an unusual matchup, Ken Mantel will take on two opponents in succession; they being Mike Adams and Butcher Vachon.

A special discount is given senior citizens and youngsters. The Coliseum is at 15th and E. sts.

Social Security Due On Friday

You're going to get your Social Security check earlier — this week.

The checks normally arrive on the third of the month. If the third comes on the Saturday or Sunday monthend, checks will get there on Friday.

Since October 3 comes on Sunday, the checks will be delivered on Friday, October 1, A. B. Carr, Social Security District Manager in San Diego, announced.

The Friday check delivery is a new policy, Carr said. Social Security checks will be delivered on a Friday whenever the third falls on a Saturday or Sunday. The same schedule will apply to beneficiaries who have their Social Security checks deposited directly in a bank or other financial institution.

Formerly, checks were delivered on Saturday when the normal delivery date fell on Sunday, but many people had to wait until Monday to cash them. The new policy will eliminate that inconvenience, Carr said. The delivery of SSI checks will not be affected by the new policy.

Social Security pays monthly retirement, disability, and survivors benefits to eligible workers and their families. The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled.

A LONG WAY TO GO — Robert L. Guest, left, chairman of the 1976 East County UNITED WAY/CHAD Combined Campaign gets some advice and encouragement from C. Joseph Crane, county-wide chairman, at the recent East County kickoff dinner. East County campaigners have set a goal of $301,550. The county goal is $8,150,000. Guest is vice president of Crocker Bank.

Federal Grant Pending

Grossmont District Seeks 10th High School from Public Works

Grossmont Union High School District will try to get its much needed tenth high school through the Federal Public Works Capital Development and Investment Program, awaiting a presidential signature or veto in Washington.

District administrators think GUHSD's odds of securing a portion of the grant are better-than-average because of the county's high unemployment rate.

Those odds, of course, are meaningless unless President Ford signs the Public Works legislation or Congress overrides a Ford veto.

Under provisions of the proposed legislation, $250 million will be allocated to California for construction of public facilities. In awarding funds, one criterion is area unemployment, particularly in construction.

"San Diego unemployment ranks among the highest in the nation and particularly in construction," John C. Barrons, assistant superintendent for business services, said.

Other things considered are community benefits, ongoing employment potential and completeness of the proposal.

In view of those criteria, the District Governing Board authorized at a special meeting Friday morning the expenditure of up to $4,000 for technical services related to making the application.

The district has eyed a $15 to $20 million high school located on the District-owned Camp Elliott site in Santee.

Santana High in Santee has the most acute overcrowding situation in the Grossmont District.

The total application will be for $40 million and includes other less costly projects.

Eight More Projects

Eight tentative Public Facility Construction Projects include aquatic centers at Mt. Miguel, El Capitan, Santana and Grossmont schools — $1.7 million asked.

Other projects and cost estimates:

- Math, physical education, social science and music facilities worth $6 million at Valhalla High, the district's newest school which is already overcrowded and has less than its original designed capacity, $6 million.

- An alternative high school in Casa de Oro, $1 million.

- Lighted tennis courts for all schools. Some already have lighted courts, $1 million.

- An amphitheatre at El Capitan High, $500,000.

- All-weather, lighted handball courts and a P.E. station at eight high schools in the district, $750,000.

- Solar energy for the five existing aquatic centers, $2.5 million.

- A warehouse, transportation and maintenance facility, $1 million.

While the items are not officially prioritized, Barrons said Valhalla improvements would likely be the second most important need after the Santee high school.

The Casa de Oro alternative high school would probably rank higher than the aquatic centers, he said.

The new high school and Valhalla improvements were items that would have been provided had June 8's lease bond revenue Proposition K and N passed.

Fiscal conservative Trustee Joseph Drew voted against applying for the federal funds, but the motion carried 3-1 with trustees Ken Whitecomb, Bob Andreen and Ken Overstreet giving it a nod.

William Funke, another often-outspoken fiscal conservative, was absent Friday.

Drew reportedly opposed the measure because he felt the June 8 election result showed that voters were not in favor of tax dollars being spent on a 10th high school.

In a written statement, Drew pointed out a "blind spot" that the majority board members have in thinking that federal money does not come out of taxpayers' pockets.

The majority members thought the June 8 voters, in defeating Proposition K and N, were saying that local taxes are too high.

Barrons said Friday that he had set a two-week deadline on preparing the application for the Public Works money.

The legislation stipulates that money granted will be on a 100 per cent basis, meaning no matching funds are required.

It also states that the committee which reviews the application must provide a yes-or-no answer within 60 days or the application is automatically assumed funded, and that construction must begin within 90 days of notification of funding.

Cohelan Raps Decline Of Public Education

Tim Cohelan, Democratic nominee for the 77th Assembly District, charged that public education administrators owe the public an explanation for declining test performance of California students.

"We cannot point the finger at students alone for failing to achieve the learning skills of their grade levels," Cohelan said.

It is time to ask those in education management to accept responsibility for the results of their work," the Assembly candidate declared.

California children have shown a steady decline in academic achievement scores for more than a decade and many are not obtaining adequate reading, writing, and mathematical skills, he said.

"Just as we expect doctors to heal our ailments or mechanics to fix our cars, it is reasonable to expect those who design our educational programs to be accountable for the quality of our children's education," Cohelan said.

Shooting Spree Breaks Windows of 16 Autos

A Paul Revere in reverse, on September 22-23, rode through two hamlets hereabouts and alarmed residents with a spree of auto window shootings.

Believed to be armed with a pellet gun, the culprit busily shot out or severely damaged windows on the driver's side of at least 16 vehicles.

There may have been others who didn't report the damage, sheriff's deputies said.

Damaged vehicles belonging to these Spring Valley residents were reported:

John Michael Deane, 1239 El Kelton
Margaret Ann Jaynes, 1270 El Kelton
Berda Marie Clark, 1276 El Kelton
Francis Primo Visconti, 1308 El Kelton
Robert R. Magoon, 8943 Orville dr.
Franklin D. Simonds, 8951 Orville dr.
Barbara Anne Sullivan, 8764 Orville dr.
Kenneth R. Peck, 1251 El Kelton
Linda D. Neubert, 8809 Delrose ave.
Sharon L. Westphal, 8842 Orville
Mary E. Burke, 1264 El Kelton
Dale Booth Ames, 1028 Capistrano
Sonia Carolina Alford, 709 Worthington

Bonnie L. Kronninger, 702 Worthington

Dale Pederson, 633 Worthington

Ira W. Sites, 708 Worthington

In every case except two, the windows on the driver's side were damaged. Approximately 10 additional reports were made by Bonita residents on the two nights.

Gasoline Record Set

California motorists burned more gasoline in July than for any month in history — except for August 1973.

In July, 1976 932.4 million gallons were pumped into Californians' cars.

It was 3.8 per cent more than July, 1975 and 5.7 per cent more than July 1974. It was 0.3 more than in June, 1976.

The 7-cents-a-gallon tax which produces about $10 billion a year, is administered by the State Board of Equalization.

Empty Kegs Taken

A thief took three empty 7-gallon beer kegs from the driveway of Robert L. Jones' house at 3420 Niblick dr., Spring Valley.

He didn't report it until the thief made a return visit and took another one on Thursday. The kegs stood him $40 — empty, he reported.

Moore Claims Race Loser Offers Support for Job

El Cajon Councilman Lucille Moore, candidate for the County Board of Supervisors, District 2, said that a group of losing candidates had reversed their position regarding endorsement of her opponent Walt Kenrick.

Moore made the charge after several of the candidates who were eliminated from the supervisors contest in the primary switched to her opponent.

"The losing candidates obviously have switched their position in the past 60 days," Moore said.

"In July many of these same candidates pronounced their dissatisfaction with me and my opponent. They launched an unsuccessful drive for support for a write-in campaign for one of the losing candidates, John Ortman, saying at that time that they cannot support either of the finalists due to our backing by so-called special interests."

"Furthermore, the proposed nominee of that aborted write-in campaign was quoted as saying he could not support my opponent because of his backing by labor unions. Now he says he is willing to support him in November."

"It is true that my opponent received contributions from the operating engineers union, the carpenters and united auto workers, Union Oil Co. of Los Angeles, the Public Employees Coordinating Council, the S.D. Bail Agents Assn., and Foster and Kleiser outdoor advertising. My opponent received these contributions before the current county law making contributions by organizations and businesses illegal went into effect, but they are a matter of public record."

She said she had not sought the personal endorsements of the losing candidates. "I decided against that when one of the losing candidates, who claimed to represent the others, offered me their support providing I guaranteed him a job on my staff if I am elected. I am against making deals in exchange for political support."
